

Keynote speaker, Lisa Marr, MD, will present on Getting Through Cancer Treatment in the Best Way Possible at the Cancer Support Now Fifth Annual Living With & Beyond Cancer Conference being held on March 5, 2016 from 8:30am to 4:30pm at Central United Methodist Church in Albuquerque.

It takes a supportive care team to provide relief for cancer patients — any stage, any age — from the side effects, symptoms, stress, and pain associated with cancer and its treatment.

The Goal of Palliative Care — as it is commonly known — is to improve the quality of life for both the patient and the family at every stage of cancer.

Dr. Marr is the Division Chief of Palliative Medicine in the Department of Internal Medicine at the University of New Mexico (UNM). She is also the Fellowship Director for the Hospice and Palliative Medicine Fellowship at UNM, the only fellowship training program in New Mexico.

Look for announcements of our 5 breakout sessions, and information on a post-lunch Cancer Resources — Panel Presentation at www.cancersupportnow.org

For additional information call 505 307- 3414
or email ptorn@comcast.net
